Almighty and Everlasting God, Beneath whose providential hand rest all men and all nations; look with favor upon these Thy servants, whom Thou hast permitted to hold places of authority.

Grant them sharp eyes to pierce through the tumultuous events of this present day and discern Thy holy will; grant them alert ears to hear beneath the discordant sounds of today's confusion Thy still, small voice; grant them ready lips to speak not merely their own wishes but Thy holy desires.

Deliver them, O God, from hardness of heart, from softness of head, and from paralysis of hand; that by their actions the welfare of our State may be advanced, our Nation enhanced, and our world brought to the highest level of freedom and progress; through Christ, our Lord. AMEN.

"Sec. 26. On the second Wednesday in March of each year, the engineering investigation and report shall be delivered to the secretary of said district in writing. Said secretary shall publish pursuant to Section 6061 of the Government Code a notice of the receipt of such report and of the public hearing to be held on the second Wednesday of April in a newspaper of general circulation, printed and published within said district, at least 10 days prior to the date at which the public hearing regarding ground water conditions shall be held. Said notice, among other information which the district may provide therein, shall contain an invitation to all operators of water-producing facilities within said district to call at the offices of said district to examine said engineering investigation and report.

There shall be held, by the board of directors, on the second Wednesday of April of each year, at the district offices a public hearing at which time any operator of a water-producing facility within said district or any person interested in the condition of the ground water supplies of said district may in person or by representative appear and submit evidence concerning the ground water conditions of said district. Appearances, also, may be made supporting or protesting said written engineering investigation and report. Said board of directors shall, before the levy of the replenishment assessments, find and determine the average annual overdraft for the immediate past [10] five water years; the estimated annual overdraft for the current water year; the estimated annual overdraft for the ensuing water year; the accumulated overdraft as of the last day of the preceding water year; the estimated accumulated overdraft as of the last day of the current water year; the amount of water which should be purchased for the replenishment of the ground water supplies of said district for the ensuing water year, and the sum of money necessary therefor.

Such finding and determination by said board shall be conclusive and binding upon all persons and parties.

SEC. 2. Section 27 of said act is amended to read:

Sec. 27. If the board of directors finds and determines that an overdraft, either annual or accumulated, does exist, then said board may levy and assess a charge or replenishment assessment against all persons operating water producing facilities and producing water during the ensuing water year, which assessment or charge shall be computed and fixed at a uniform rate per acre-foot of such water production.

The total of the replenishment assessment levied in any year shall not exceed an amount of money found to be necessary to purchase sufficient water to replenish the average annual overdraft for the immediate past [10] 5 water years plus an additional amount of water sufficient to eliminate over a period of not less than 10 years nor more than 20 years, the accumulated overdraft; provided, further, that the replenishment assessment in any year as computed and fixed at a uniform rate per acre-foot of water produced shall not exceed five dollars and fifty cents ($5.50) per acre-foot of water produced except upon the vote of eight directors of said district.

On the second Wednesday in June of each year at the hour of 2 p.m. at the offices of said district, the board of directors shall hold a public hearing for the purpose of determining the need and desirability of levying a replenishment assessment and fixing the rate thereof. In computing and fixing the replenishment assessment rate, there shall be allowed such percent, not to exceed 10 percent, as shall be determined by the board of directors of the district for delinquencies. Notice of such hearing shall be published in the district pursuant to Section 6061 of the Government Code, at least 10 days prior to the date set for said hearing.

Any replenishment assessment levied by this section shall be in addition to any general assessment levied by said district.

Clerical errors occurring or appearing in the name of any person or in the description of the water producing facility where the production of water therefrom is otherwise properly assessed, or in the making or extension of any assessment upon the records, which do not affect the substantial rights of the assessee or assessees, shall not invalidate the assessment.

"(f) The Merced River Development will be financed primarily by the above-mentioned bonds payable from revenues received from the sale of electric power. The remainder of the cost will be covered by the above-mentioned flood control monetary contribution. However, since this federal flood control monetary contribution will not, under Section 204 of the Flood Control Act of 1960, be paid in advance, but will be paid as reimbursement for certain construction expenditures from time to time during the period of construction of the project, and since the Merced Irrigation District will be unable to market satisfactorily the revenue bonds without the amount of the federal flood control monetary contribution on hand, it is necessary for the district to obtain an authorization and a commitment for a loan as provided in this act. On the basis of a cash flow study recently completed by the Merced Irrigation District, it is estimated that the total amount which might be required from the State pursuant to a loan in the unlikely event that the federal government does not make the above-mentioned flood control monetary contribution in timely fashion, or in the full amount authorized, will not exceed eight million dollars ($8,000,000), and will not be required for expenditure until the 1966-67 and 1967-68 fiscal years. If the federal government makes said contribution in timely fashion, and in the full amount authorized, no money from the State will be required.

SEC. 2. The sum of eight million dollars ($8,000,000) is hereby appropriated from the California Water Fund to the Department of Water Resources for expenditure in making a loan to the Merced Irrigation District of such amount as may be needed by the district, but not exceeding the amount of eight million dollars ($8,000,000), for use in assisting in the financing of the Merced River development. Such loan shall be made pursuant to a contract between the Department of Water Resources and the Merced Irrigation District authorizing such loan, which contract shall be subject to approval by the Department of Finance and the California Districts Securities Commission. Money authorized to be loaned under such contract shall be available for advance to the district, if needed, at the time upon which the district shall deliver its first series of revenue bonds, in such amounts as may be required, together with the proceeds of said bonds, to assure payment of all project costs then approved by the California Districts Securities Commission; provided, that in no event shall said loan be made to the district until the district has entered into a contract with the United States pursuant to Section 204 of the Flood Control Act of 1960 (Public Law 86-645). Nothing herein contained shall prevent further advances within the limit of the maximum herein authorized, if required to meet additional project costs approved by the California Districts Securities Commission. Such advances shall be made in accordance with terms and conditions specified in the contract authorizing the loan. Money received by the district under such loan shall be expended by it only upon expenditure orders made by the California Districts Securities Commission.

The Department of Water Resources shall require the payment of interest on each advance made to the district at a rate equal to the net interest cost to the State on the last sale of general obligation bonds of the State that occurred prior to the time the advance was made; provided, that when the applicable net interest cost to the State is in a multiple of one-quarter of 1 percent, the interest rate on the loan shall be at the multiple of one-quarter of 1 percent next above the applicable net interest cost."

Amendment No. 5

On page 3, strike out lines 21 and 22, and insert "(a) No".

Amendment No. 6

On page 3, strike out lines 25 to 27, inclusive, and insert "(b) No additional election shall".

Amendment No. 7

On page 3, line 33, strike out "file an application", and insert "enter into a contract".

Amendment No. 8

On page 3, line 34, strike out the comma, and insert a period.

Amendment No. 9

On page 3, strike out lines 35 and 36.

Amendment No. 10

On page 3, line 37, strike out "Said loan to the Merced Irrigation District", and insert "Advances made to the Merced Irrigation District under said loan".

Amendment No. 11

On page 3, line 42, after "of", insert "advances made under".

Amendment No. 12

On page 3, line 43, after "of", insert "advances made under".

Amendment No. 13

On page 3, strike out lines 46 to 48, inclusive; and on page 4, strike out lines 1 to 26, inclusive, and insert

"(e) In the event that the federal government does not make the flood control monetary contribution currently authorized in whole or in part, and, as a result thereof, the Merced Irrigation District does not have sufficient funds to repay the principal and interest on advances made under the loan herein authorized, the district shall be obligated to repay such principal and interest to the State, and the terms and conditions of such repayment shall be as specified in a supplemental contract thereafter to be entered into between the district and the Department of Water Resources and approved by the Department of Finance and the California Districts Securities Commission.

(f) The Department of Water Resources shall include such further terms and conditions in the contract with the Merced Irrigation District as may be determined to be necessary or desirable to implement the provisions of this act.

(g) All funds received by the Department of Water Resources in repayment of the principal and interest on advances made to the district under the loan herein authorized shall be deposited in the California Water Fund."

Amendments read, and adopted.

Bill ordered printed, and re-referred to Committee on Finance.

LETTER OF TRANSMITTAL

CALIFORNIA LEGISLATURE
SENATE COMMITTEE ON JUDICIARY

Hon. Glenn M. Anderson
President of the Senate

DEAR SIR: The Senate Committee on Judiciary, having considered Senate Bill No. 42 and having reported it "do pass as amended, but first amend, and re-refer to Committee on Finance" on April 2, 1963, herewith submits this report concerning Senate Bill No. 42. The committee believes that the comments contained in this report on various sections of the bill will prove helpful in determining legislative intent.

The report contains comments to reflect the actions taken on this bill by both the Committee on Judiciary and the Committee on Finance. After the bill was reported by the Committee on Judiciary, the Committee on Finance adopted amendments that added Sections 844.6 and 854.8 to the bill. But both of these sections were originally added to the bill by amendments adopted when the bill was before the Committee on Judiciary and were later deleted by amendments adopted by the Committee on Judiciary. Accordingly, since the Committee on Judiciary is familiar with the sections and their purpose, this report includes comments on these sections.

Respectfully submitted,

REPORT OF SENATE COMMITTEE ON JUDICIARY ON SENATE BILL NO. 42

In order to indicate more fully its intent with respect to Senate Bill No. 42, the Senate Committee on Judiciary makes the following report.

Except for the new or revised comments set out below, the comments contained under the various sections of Senate Bill No. 42 as set out in the Recommendation of the California Law Revision Commission relating to Sovereign Immunity, Number 1—Tort Liability of Public Entities and Public Employees (January, 1963) reflect the intent of the Senate Committee on Judiciary in approving the various provisions of Senate Bill No. 42.

The following new and revised comments to various sections of Senate Bill No. 42 also reflect the intent of the Senate Committee on Judiciary in approving Senate Bill No. 42.

Section 810.2

Comment: "Employee" was originally defined (in the bill as introduced) to include "an officer, agent or employee," but not an "independent contractor." By amendment, the word "servant" was substituted for "agent" because (1) "servant" was considered more appropriate than "agent" when used in a statute relating to tort liability and (2) the public entities feared that to impose liability upon public entities for the torts of "agents" would expand vicarious liability to include a large, indefinite class of persons and "servant" was believed to be more restrictive than "agent." The words "whether or not compensated" are taken from a somewhat similar definition of "employee" found in the Federal Tort Claims Act (28 U.S.C. §2671).

Independent contractors are excluded from the definition of "employee" so that the problems of liability, insurance, defense and claims arising out of acts and omissions of independent contractors may be met by different statutory provisions than those applicable to public employees.

Section 814

Comment: The various provisions of this part determine only whether a public entity or public employee is liable for money or damages. These provisions do not create any right to any other type of relief, nor do they have any effect on any other type of relief that may be available against a public entity or public employee.

The doctrine of sovereign immunity has not protected public entities in California from liability arising out of contract. This section makes clear that this statute has no effect on the contractual liabilities of public entities or public employees.

This section also declares that the provisions of this statute relating to liability of public entities and public employees have no effect upon whatever right a person may have to obtain relief other than money or damages. Thus, for example, even though Section 820.6 provides that public employees are not liable for enforcing unconstitutional statutes, and even though public entities have a similar immunity under Sections 815 and 815.2, the right to enjoin the enforcement of unconstitutional statutes will still remain. Under this statute as limited by this section, the appropriate way to seek review of discretionary governmental actions is by an action for specific or preventive relief to control the abuse of discretion, not by tort actions for damages.

Section 814.2

Comment: This section makes clear that the statute relating to the liability of public entities and public employees has no effect on rights under the Workmen's Compensation Act.

Section 815

Comment: This section abolishes all common law or judicially declared forms of liability for public entities, except for such liability as may be required by the state or federal constitution, e.g., inverse condemnation. In the absence of a constitutional requirement, public entities may be held liable only if a statute (not including a charter provision, ordinance or regulation) is found declaring them to be liable. Because of the limitations contained in Section 814, which declares that this part does not affect liability arising out of contract or the right to obtain specific relief against public entities and employees, the practical effect of this section is to eliminate any common law governmental liability for damages arising out of torts. The use of the word "tort" has been avoided, however, to prevent the imposition of liability by the courts by reclassifying the act causing the injury.

As originally introduced, this section used "enactment" instead of "statute." The word "statute" was substituted because the terms and conditions of liability of public entities are matters of statewide concern and should be subject to uniform rules established by the action of the Legislature.

In the following portions of this division, there are many sections providing for the liability of governmental entities under specified conditions. In other codes there are a few provisions providing for the liability of governmental entities, e.g., Vehicle Code Section 17001 et seq. and Penal Code Section 4900. But there is no liability in the absence of a statute declaring such liability. For example, there is no section in this statute declaring that public entities are liable for nuisance, even though the California courts have previously held that public entities are subject to such liability even in the absence of statute. Under this statute, the right to recover damages for nuisance will have to be established under the provisions relating to dangerous conditions of public property or under some other statute that may be applicable to the situation. However, the right to specific or preventive relief in nuisance cases is not affected. Similarly, this statute eliminates the common law liability of public entities for injuries inflicted in proprietary activities.

In the following portions of this division, there also are many sections granting public entities and public employees broad immunities from liability. In general, the statutes imposing liability are cumulative in nature, i.e., if liability cannot be established under the requirements of one section, liability will nevertheless exist if liability can be established under the provisions of another section. On the other hand, under subdivision (b) of this section, the immunity provisions will as a general rule prevail over all sections imposing liability. Where the sections imposing liability or granting an immunity do not fall into this general pattern, the sections themselves make this clear.

Subdivision (b) also makes it clear that the sections imposing liability are subject to the ordinary defenses, such as contributory negligence and assumption of the risk, that are available in tort litigation between private persons.

Section 815.2

Comment: This section imposes upon public entities vicarious liability for the tortious acts and omissions of their employees. It makes clear that in the absence of a statute a public entity cannot be held liable for an employee's act or omission where the employee himself would be immune. The California courts have held on many occasions that a public employee is immune from liability for his discretionary acts within the scope of his employment even though the discretion be abused. This rule is codified in Section 820.2. Under the above section, a public entity also is entitled to the protection of that immunity. Thus, this section nullifies the suggestion appearing in a dictum in Lipman v. Brisbane Elementary School District, 55 Cal.2d 224, 11 Cal. Rptr. 97, 359 P.2d 465 (1961), that public entities may be liable for the acts of their employees even when the employees are immune.

Under this section, it will not be necessary in every case to identify the particular employee upon whose act the liability of the public entity is to be predicated. All that will be necessary will be to show that some employee of the public entity tortiously inflicted the injury in the scope of his employment under circumstances where he would be personally liable.

The exception appears in subdivision (b) because under certain circumstances it appears to be desirable to provide by statute that a public entity is liable even when the employee is immune. For example, Chapter 2 (commencing with Section 830) provides that a public entity may be liable for a dangerous condition of public property even though no employee is personally liable.

Subdivision (a) expresses a rule that has been applicable to all public entities in the State insofar as their "proprietary" activities are concerned. The section is similar to the English Crown Proceedings Act of 1947, the Canadian Crown Proceedings Act, and a Uniform Proceedings Against the Crown Act that has been adopted in several Canadian provinces.

Section 815.8

Comment: This section of the bill (as introduced), which made public entities directly liable for failure to exercise due care in appointing or in failing to remove or discipline employees, was deleted. The deletion of this section does not affect liability imposed by other provisions of the statute, such as Sections 815.2, 820 and 820.8.

Section 816

Comment: This section of the bill (as introduced), which imposed liability on public entities for malicious prosecution, was deleted. The deletion of this section resulted in a restoration of the pre-Muskopf law, and both public entities (Sections 815 and 815.2) and public employees (Section 821.6) are immune from liability for malicious prosecution.

Section 818.4

Comment: This section, like Section 818.2, would be unnecessary but for a possible implication that might arise from Section 815.6. It recognizes another immunity that has been recognized by the New York courts in the absence of statute. Under the Federal Tort Claims Act, the immunity would be within the general discretionary immunity. Direct review of this type of action by public entities is usually available through writ proceedings or other proceedings to review administrative action or inaction.

Under this section, for example, the State is immune from liability if the State Division of Industrial Safety issues or fails to issue a safety order and a city is immune if it issues or refuses to issue a building permit, even though negligence is involved in issuing or failing to issue the order or permit.

Section 818.6

Comment: Like Sections 818.2 and 818.4, this section would be unnecessary but for Section 815.6. It recognizes another immunity that has been recognized by the New York courts in the absence of statute. Because of the extensive nature of the inspection activities of public entities, a public entity would be exposed to the risk of liability for virtually all property defects within its jurisdiction if this immunity were not granted.

So far as its own property is concerned, a public entity may be held liable under Chapter 2 (commencing with Section 830) for negligently failing to discover a dangerous condition by conducting reasonable inspections, or a public entity may be held liable under Section 815.6 if it does not exercise reasonable diligence to comply with any mandatory legal duty that it may have to inspect its property.

The immunity provided by this section covers negligent failure to make an inspection and negligence in the inspection itself. For example, the section makes the public entity immune from liability if its employee negligently fails to detect a defect in a building being inspected; but the section does not provide immunity where a public employee inspecting a building under construction negligently causes a plank to fall on a workman.

Section 818.8

Comment: This section provides public entities with an absolute immunity from liability for negligent or intentional misrepresentation. A similar immunity is provided public employees by Section 822.2, except that an employee may be held liable if he is guilty of actual fraud, corruption or actual malice. This section will provide, for example, a public entity with protection against possible tort liability where it is claimed that an employee negligently misrepresented that the public entity would waive the terms of a construction contract requiring approval before changes were made.

Section 820.2

Comment: This section restates the pre-existing California law. Lipman v. Brisbane Elem. School Dist., 55 Cal. 2d 224, 11 Cal. Rptr. 97, 359 P. 2d 465 (1961); Hardy v. Vial, 48 Cal. 2d 577, 311 P. 2d 494 (1957); White v. Towers, 37 Cal. 2d 727, 235 P. 2d 209 (1951). The discretionary immunity rule is restated here in statutory form to ensure that, unless otherwise provided by statute, public employees will continue to remain immune from liability for their discretionary acts within the scope of their employment.

In the sections that follow, several immunities of public employees are set forth even though they have been regarded as within the discretionary immunity. These specific immunities are stated in statutory form so that the liability of public entities and employees may not be expanded by redefining "discretionary immunity" to exclude certain acts that had previously been considered as discretionary.

Section 820.6

Comment: This section broadens an immunity contained in former Government Code Section 1955 that applied only to actions pursuant to unconstitutional statutes. Like former Section 1955, this section provides immunity to an employee who acts in good faith, without malice, and under the apparent authority of an unconstitutional, invalid or inapplicable enactment, even though the employee may have been negligent in his good faith belief that the enactment was constitutional, valid and applicable.

Section 820.8

Comment: This section expresses a principle contained in several sections scattered through the codes and uncodified acts that limit a public employee's liability to liability for his own negligent or wrongful conduct. The section nullifies the holdings of a few old cases that some public officers are vicariously liable for the torts of their subordinates.

Section 821.4

Comment: This section grants immunity to a public employee for failure to make inspections, or for making negligent inspections, of private property. So far as a public employee's liability for public property is concerned, see Sections 840 to 840.6, relating to the liability of public employees for dangerous conditions of public property. For the scope of the immunity provided by this section, see comment to Section 818.6.

Section 821.6

Comment: The California courts have repeatedly held public entities and public employees immune from liability for this sort of conduct. Dawson v. Martin, 150 Cal. App.2d 379, 309 P.2d 915 (1957) (public entities); White v. Towers, 37 Cal.2d 727, 235 P.2d 209 (1951); Coverstone v. Davies, 38 Cal.2d 315, 239 P.2d 876 (1952); Hardy v. Vial, 48 Cal.2d 577, 311 P.2d 494 (1957) (public employees). This section continues the existing immunity of public employees; and, because no statute imposes liability on public entities for malicious prosecution, public entities likewise are immune from liabilty.

Section 822

Comment: This section makes clear that statutes which require a public employee to account for money in his official custody do not impose liability for a loss unless the loss is sustained as a result of his own negligent or wrongful act or omission. The section has no effect on liability based on a bond, since Section 814 provides that this part does not affect liability based on contract.

Section 822.2

Comment: See comment to Section 818.8.

Section 825

Comment: The sections in this article require public entities to pay claims and judgments against public employees that arise out of their public employment where the public entity has been tendered the defense. However, if the public entity provides the defense pursuant to a reservation of rights, it is required to pay a judgment, compromise or settlement only if the plaintiff establishes that the employee was in the scope of his employment at the time the claim against him arose.

Section 825.6

Comment: See comment to Section 825. This section is worded broadly to apply whenever the public entity is required to pay a judgment, whether the judgment is against the entity itself or against the employee. The entity has the right to recover the amount paid from the responsible employee whenever the employee has acted with actual malice, actual fraud or corruption.

Section 830.5

Comment: Subdivision (a) of this section makes applicable to public entities the same rule that applies in actions against private persons. It overrules cases that indicate that the happening of the accident is evidence that public property was in a dangerous condition. However, the section does not prevent the use of the doctrine of res ipsa loquitur in appropriate cases.

Subdivision (b) is a codification of a general rule established by case law. The evidence described in this subdivision might be admissible for a purpose other than to show that the public property was in a dangerous condition at the time of the injury.

Section 831.2

Comment: This section provides an absolute immunity from liability for injuries resulting from a natural condition of any unimproved public property. Thus, for example, under this section and Section 831.4, the State has an absolute immunity from liability for injuries resulting from natural conditions of a state park area where the only improvements are recreational access roads (as defined in Section 831.4) and hiking, riding, fishing and hunting trails.

This section and Section 831.4 continue and extend an existing policy adopted by the Legislature in former Government Code Section 54002. It is desirable to permit the members of the public to use public property in its natural condition and to provide trails for hikers and riders and roads for campers into the primitive regions of the State. But the burden and expense of putting such property in a safe condition and the expense of defending claims for injuries would probably cause many public entities to close such areas to public use. In view of the limited funds available for the acquisition and improvement of property for recreational purposes, it is not unreasonable to expect persons who voluntarily use unimproved public property in its natural condition to assume the risk of injuries arising therefrom as a part of the price to be paid for benefits received.

Section 831.4

Comment: See comment to Section 831.2.

Section 835

Comment: This section is similar to the Public Liability Act of 1923, under which cities, counties and school districts are liable for injuries proximately caused by the dangerous conditions of their property.

Although there is no provision similar to subdivision (a) in the Public Liability Act of 1923, the courts have held that entities are liable under that act for dangerous conditions created by the negligent or wrongful acts of their employees. Pritchard v. Sully-Miller Contracting Co., 178 Cal. App.2d 246, 2 Cal. Rptr. 830 (1960).

Subdivision (b) declares the traditional basis for holding an entity liable for a dangerous condition of property: failure to protect against the hazard after notice. Unlike the 1923 Act, this section does not leave the question of notice to judicial construction. The requisite conditions for notice are stated in Section 835.2.

The section is not subject to the discretionary immunity that public entities derive from Section 815.2, for this chapter itself declares the limits of a public entity's discretion in dealing with dangerous conditions of its property.

Liability does not necessarily exist if the evidentiary requirements of this section are met. Even if the elements stated in the statute are established, a public entity may avoid liability if it shows that it acted reasonably in the light of the practicability and cost of pursuing alternative courses of action available to it. In addition to the defenses available to public entities under Section 835.4, a public entity also may use any other defense—such as contributory negligence or assumption of the risk—that is available under subdivision (b) of Section 815 to avoid liability under this section.

This section requires the plaintiff to show that the injury suffered was of a kind that was reasonably foreseeable. Thus, a person landing an airplane on a public road might not be able to recover for an injury resulting from striking a chuckhole, whereas a motorist might be able to recover for the injury resulting from striking the same hazard; for it is reasonably foreseeable that motorists will be injured by such a defect, but it is highly unlikely that airplanes will encounter the hazard.

Under this section, if an entity placed lights and barriers around a hole sufficient to remove any substantial risk to persons who would be foreseeably using the street with due care, the entity could not be held liable for any injuries caused by the condition, for the condition would not be "dangerous" within the meaning of Section 830. If the lights subsequently failed to function, a person injured from striking the hazard would have to show either that there was some negligence in preparing the lights or that, although the lights failed without fault on the part of the entity, the entity had notice of the failure and did not take appropriate precautions.

Comment: This section sets forth the matters that must be established before a public entity may be charged with notice of a dangerous condition.

Under the Public Liability Act of 1923, the knowledge necessary to charge a public entity with notice of a dangerous condition has to be the knowledge of "the legislative body, board, or person authorized to remedy the condition." Subdivision (a), however, permits an entity to be charged with knowledge under the ordinary agency rules of imputed knowledge that would be applicable to a private person.

Under subdivision (a), as under the pre-existing law, actual knowledge by an entity of the existence of a particular condition is not a basis for the imposition of liability unless the entity also knew or should have known of the danger created by the condition. Ellis v. City of Los Angeles, 167 Cal. App.2d 180, 334 P.2d 37 (1959).

Under the Public Liability Act of 1923, public entities are at times charged with "constructive notice" of a defect because it would be obvious upon an inspection and because it has existed for a substantial period of time. Subdivision (b) continues these rules. Under subdivision (b), the plaintiff has the burden of proving that the public entity had constructive notice. In addition, the subdivision makes clear that evidence is admissible to show (1) what would constitute a reasonable inspection system, and (2) what inspection system was used by the public entity. The admission of this evidence is necessary so that the issue of whether or not a public entity had constructive notice will turn on whether a reasonable inspection system would have disclosed the existence of the condition.

Section 844

Comment: A person in the custody of a law enforcement officer but undergoing medical treatment in a county hospital would be considered a prisoner as defined in this section. The work camps for prisoners would be considered penal or correctional facilities. Although a prisoner or ward of the juvenile court engaged in fire suppression would be considered a prisoner as defined in this section, a person on parole would not be considered to be a prisoner.

Section 844.6

Although this section was considered and rejected by the Senate Committee on Judiciary, the section was added to the statute by the Senate Committee on Finance.

The immunity provided to public entities by this section prevails over all other provisions of the statute. Thus, the public entity is immune for injuries to prisoners (which includes wards of the juvenile court) except that the public entity must pay judgments against public employees based on malpractice. In addition, the section provides public entities with immunity for injuries proximately caused by prisoners.

The section does not affect the liability of public employees, and an employee may be held liable for an injury to a prisoner or an injury caused by a prisoner even though the public entity is not liable.

A person injured by a dangerous condition of public property caused by a prisoner may recover from the public entity for his injury only if he is a visitor. A prisoner who is injured by a dangerous condition of public property may not recover for his injury from the public entity.

Section 845.2

Comment: This section grants an immunity for failure to provide a prison jail or penal or correctional facility or for failure to provide sufficient equipment, personnel or facilities therein. This immunity is justified on the same ground as the immunity provided by Section 845.

Notwithstanding the immunity provided by this section, except as provided in Section 844.6, a public entity or public employee may be held liable for failure to provide the equipment, personnel or facilities mentioned in this section if the conditions of liability stated in Chapter 2 (commencing with Section 830), relating to dangerous conditions of public property can be established.

Section 845.4

Comment: This section makes clear that liability exists for the intentional and unjustifiable interference with a basic legal right—the right of a person confined involuntarily to seek redress in the courts. To avoid a possible flood of unmeritorious actions, the section requires that a determination shall have been made that the confinement was illegal before an action for damages can be commenced. Such a determination might be a judicial or administrative determination that a prisoner should be released because his confinement was illegal.

Section 854

Comment: This section provides a broad definition of the term "medical facility" for the purposes of this chapter.

Section 854.2

Comment: This definition makes clear the meaning of the term "mental institution" as used in this chapter. See Section 854.4 for definition of "mental illness or addiction."

Section 854.4

Comment: The term "mental illness or addiction" is defined to mean certain mental or emotional conditions for which a person may be committed to a public medical facility under the provisions of Welfare and Institutions Code Sections 5000 et seq. and 5100 et seq. (mental illness), 5075 et seq. (mental disorder bordering on mental illness), 5250 et seq. (mental deficiency), 5300 et seq. (epilepsy), 5350 et seq. (narcotic drug addiction), 5400 et seq. (habit forming drug addiction or dipsomania or inebriety), 5500 et seq. (sexual psychopathy), and 5600 et seq. (such mental abnormality as to evidence utter lack of power to control sexual impulses).

Section 854.8

Although this section was considered and rejected by the Senate Committee on Judiciary, the section was added to the statute by the Senate Committee on Finance.

The immunity provided to public entities by this section prevails over all other provisions of the statute. Thus, the public entity is immune for injuries to persons committed or admitted to mental institutions except that the public entity must pay judgments against public employees based on malpractice. In addition, the section provides public entities with immunity for injuries proximately caused by persons committed or admitted to mental institutions.

The section does not affect the liability of public employees, and an employee may be held liable for an injury to a person committed or admitted to a mental institution even though the public entity is not liable.

A person injured by a dangerous condition of public property caused by a person committed or admitted to a mental institution may recover from the public entity for his injury only if he is a visitor. A person committed or admitted to a mental institution who is injured by a dangerous condition of public property may not recover for his injury from the public entity.

Section 855.8

Comment: This section declares an immunity from liability for diagnosing or failing to diagnose that a person is afflicted with a condition for which he may be committed to an institution for the mentally ill or addicted. The section also provides an immunity for failing to prescribe for mental illness or addiction, but it does not provide immunity for malpractice where a public employee undertakes to prescribe for mental illness or addiction.

Section 856.2

Comment: The extent of freedom that must be accorded persons suffering from mental illness or addiction, and the nature of the precautions necessary to prevent escape of such persons, are matters that should be determined by the proper public officials unfettered by any fear that their decisions may result in liability.

Section 856.4

Comment: The determination of eligibility for admission to a public facility often involves a delicate exercise of judgment in the evaluation of complicated factual circumstances. Such a determination should not be influenced by concern for possible liabilities which the entity might incur if a refusal to extend service is later shown to have caused harm, for such concern might well frustrate and impede the execution of sound policy determinations to limit admission to the public facility to designated classes of individuals. Of course, where the public entity is under a mandatory duty to admit certain classes of persons, there should be no discretion to fail to comply with such duty.

Section 860

Comment: This chapter confers immunity upon public employees and public entities for their discretionary acts in the administration of tax laws. It is likely that the courts would confer an immunity for these acts under the general provisions of Section 820.2; but it appears desirable to make the immunity explicit in order to obviate the necessity for test cases to determine whether the discretionary immunity extends this far.

Section 860.2

Comment: See the comment to Section 860.

Section 860.4

Comment: See the comment to Section 860.

Section 895.8

Comment: This section makes the provisions of this chapter imposing joint and several liability apply to agreements made before its effective date. However, the provisions of this chapter governing contribution would not apply to agreements made before its effective date; where an existing agreement does not contain any provision indicating which public entity is to bear the ultimate financial burden, the right of contribution will be determined by the case law governing contribution between persons who are jointly liable.

PRAYER

Prayer was offered by the Chaplain, Rev. Father Keith Kenny:

O God,* Our government is not like some great complicated machine or electronic computer, composed of myriad inanimate parts with profoundly complex and intricate inner-workings. Rather, Lord, it is made of human stuff, human intelligence and will, human energy and work—indeed, a highly complex and intricate thing, but human nonetheless—with all the frailties of this nature, yet the stuff of which heroes are made.

Bless, O Lord, this awfully complex thing, so less efficient, so less precise than mechanical things, but so wonderfully free, and for all of its frailty, so admirably wise. AMEN.

STATE OF CALIFORNIA
DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE
SACRAMENTO, April 24, 1963

Hon. J. A. Beck
Secretary of the Senate
State Capitol, Sacramento

Dear Mr. Beck: The Department of Agriculture is required, under the provisions of the Business and Professions Code, to submit to the Governor and to the Legislature an annual report covering the activities of the Bureau of Weights and Measures.

Pursuant to this requirement, we are attaching a report covering these activities for the calendar year 1962. Copies of this report are also being sent to the Governor and to the Chief Clerk of the Assembly.

Sincerely yours,

CHARLES PAUL, Director

Encl.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE REPORT ON THE ACTIVITIES OF THE BUREAU OF WEIGHTS AND MEASURES DIVISION OF COMPLIANCE—1962

The Department of Agriculture through its Bureau of Weights and Measures enforces those portions of the Business and Professions Code pertaining to weights and measures, weighing and measuring devices, the sale of commodities in containers, weighmasters, petroleum products, antifreeze, brake fluid, automatic transmission fluid, standard bread loaf law, and other special provisions relating to farm products, contained in Divisions 5 and 8 of the California Business and Professions Code.

Chapter 8, Title 4, California Administrative Code, contains rules and regulations to supplement and make specific the provisions and requirements of the Business and Professions Code. Specifically, the Administrative Code contains tolerances and specifications for commercial weighing and measuring devices, standards established for specific commodities, methods for the determination of the tare weights of containers used for the delivery of edible agricultural commodities to processors, quality standards for brake fluid and automatic transmission fluid, and the procedure to be used by county and state weights and measures officials for sampling and testing the fill of packaged commodities.

With the exception of products under the control of the Public Utilities Commission, every article or commodity sold or offered for sale by weight, measure or count, is subject to inspection at the retail, wholesale or manufacturing level. It is a common belief, among persons who are not familiar with the subject, that the weights and measures officials' sole duty is in the interest of the purchasing public at the retail level. This is not the fact. The function of a weights and measures official is to safeguard the entire process, processor, manufacturer, wholesaleman and retailer, or any person who is engaged in business, trade or commerce. It is the duty of the weights and measures official to see that whenever merchandise or any service is bought, sold, or obtained on the basis of weight or measure, an accurate weight and an honest measure is delivered and that fraud, carelessness and ignorance are eliminated from all transactions.

One of the most appropriate and descriptive statements concerning weights and measures activities is contained in the Final Report of the Assembly Interim Committee on Agriculture, 1961-63, Volume 17, Number 10. This statement is quoted as follows:

> "The importance of a climate of trust and confidence surrounding all business dealings with measurable commodities can hardly be overestimated. Without such a climate, the everyday transactions upon which our whole economy is predicated would become awfully more difficult, and many of the material advantages which modern technology makes possible would be lost. It has been the historic purpose of weights and measures laws to protect and foster this climate in a free and competitive society by setting certain limits to the application of the doctrine of caveat emptor. More specifically, the proper objective of weights and measures law is to provide adequate protection for the buyer without either (1) unreasonably increasing the cost of commodities to him, or to the taxpayer, by over-zealous enforcement, or (2) unreasonably harassing the seller, or holding him criminally culpable where there is no intent to defraud, but only difficulty in mastering mechanical or technical processes."

This statement of the Assembly Interim Committee on Agriculture embodies the basic principles of weights and measures laws not only with respect to packaged commodities, but in the enforcement of all kinds of weights and measures activities.

The duty of enforcing all weights and measures laws in California is vested in the Director of Agriculture and in each county sealer acting under the supervision and direction of the director, thus a heavy portion of the weights and measures enforcement work falls upon the sealers and deputy state sealers of weights and measures in the fifty-eight (58) counties.

The department is required to report annually to the Governor and to the Legislature the work accomplished in the field of weights and measures and to make such recommendations as may be proper and necessary.

The department is also required to inspect, at least once in two years, the work of the local sealers and to investigate complaints in the various counties with respect to weights and measures, and to the sale of commodities and for tariffs in containers, and to issue instructions and recommendations to county sealers governing the procedure to be followed in the discharge of their duties.

A complete record of all fees, processes and of reports of county sealers is kept in the department and such records and reports are open to the public.

The scales, weights and measures used in checking the receipts and disbursement of supplies at all state institutions are checked, or caused to be checked, annually by the department and a written report of its findings is sent to the executive officer of the institution concerned and to the Department of Finance.

During early 1962, the bureau was in the final stages of reorganization in line with the general reorganization of the Department of Agriculture. The organization now embodies the program supervisor concept of administration, and thus we now have a bureau chief, responsible for the overall operation of the bureau, and four (4) program supervisors, each in charge of a specific program.

The work of the bureau is divided into four major functions or programs, (1) Weighing and Measuring Devices, (2) Petroleum and Automotive Products, (3) Weighmaster Investigation and Enforcement, (4) Quantity Control of Packaged Commodities.

The report that follows concerning each program does not include work of county sealers, although in many instances the work was accomplished in co-operation with county sealers.

1. Weighing and Measuring Devices Program

Personnel

1 Program Supervisor.
3 Weights and Measures Technician III.
1 Senior Weights and Measures Investigator.
7 Weights and Measures Technician I.

Distribution

The program is divided into three operating sections, each supervised by a Weights and Measures Technician III. The work of each section entails the testing and certification of county standards, testing of state-operated weighing and measuring devices, training of county personnel, development of standard techniques for the testing of weighing and measuring devices, approval of new weighing and measuring devices prior to sale and distribution in the State, and the testing of commercial weighing and measuring devices in counties contracting with the Department for this service. (This latter function occurs only if the county does not have adequate equipment to perform this function.)

Weighing Devices Section

Section 709.5, Vehicle Code, requires that scales and weighing instruments used by the California Highway Patrol shall be inspected and certified as to accuracy at least once in each calendar year by the Bureau of Weights and Measures. During 1962, the following were tested and sealed for accuracy:

198 loadometers (wheel load weighers)
27 vehicle and axle load scales

Type Approvals

Since the inception of the principle of electronics into the field of weighing devices, the number of tests required, prior to the issuance of a type approval, have almost tripled. We believe this to be a normal result of an entirely new concept in weighing and, as improvements are made, the required number of tests per device will decrease.

This section conducted tests on twenty (20) new weighing devices and approved sixteen (16) for sale and use in the State in accordance with the provisions of Section 12500.5, Business and Professions Code.

Metrology Laboratory

Sections 12310 and 12311, Business and Professions Code, require that the department shall, at least once every two years, inspect, verify, and certify to the accuracy of all standards used by county sealers. The following were certified by the Metrology Laboratory during 1962:

10,560 weights
669 liquid measures
52 linear measures
14 dry measures

In addition to county standards, the laboratory tested and sealed 269 scales used in regulatory work by other bureaus in the Department of Agriculture.

Vehicle and Other Large Capacity Scales Tested for Counties

The testing of commercial weighing devices of this type is the responsibility of each county sealer. In cases where the sealer does not have adequate equipment for the proper testing of heavy capacity scales, the board of supervisors may contract with the Director of Agriculture to perform such tests.

Contracts are now on file with twenty-one (21) counties to perform tests on commercially used vehicle, livestock, hopper and other large capacity scales.

Four (4) state-owned and operated heavy capacity scale test trucks, assisted by county personnel, tested a total of 1,362 vehicle and other large capacity scales in the twenty-one (21) counties contracting for this service.

It is anticipated that some of the twenty-one (21) counties will acquire test equipment during the next fiscal year.

Measuring Devices Section

The work of the Measuring Equipment Section consists of testing and inspecting liquid measuring devices before approval for compliance with the provisions of Article 4 and 6 of the California Administrative Code, and Article 8, Chapter 7, Division 8 of the Business and Professions Code. Devices, other than liquid measuring devices under the jurisdiction of this section are fabric measuring devices, cordage meters, and farm milk tanks.

During the latter part of 1962, the bureau took delivery of a new test vehicle equipped with large volumetric standards used to certify liquid measuring devices delivering products at high rates of flow.

This equipment was a much-needed addition to this section, and was utilized in conducting type approval tests on high speed measuring devices.

The personnel of this section conducted tests, and approvals were issued, on sixteen (16) new measuring devices.

Tests, in co-operation with county officials, were conducted on one hundred and forty-three (143) other measuring devices.

New Functions

Octane ratings of gasoline, and automatic transmission fluids were added to the functions of this program by the 1961 Session of the Legislature.

Administrative Code hearings were conducted by the department during the latter part of 1961 and early 1962 to adopt regulations pertaining to octane ratings of gasoline, and quality specifications for automatic transmission fluids. The addition of these two new functions has required the addition of specialized equipment to both laboratories. Waukesha octane rating machines were added to both the Sacramento and South Gate laboratories while equipment for testing automatic transmission fluids was added to the Sacramento laboratory only.

Licensing

The bureau licenses each motor fuel pump used for the retail dispensing of petroleum products.

The method by which this licensing was accomplished was changed by the 1961 Legislature and required that each location should be licensed instead of issuing a license for each dispensing device. With this change, the department was able to integrate the licensing program into their data processing schedule and relieve the bureau of considerable workload. Several other advantages also accrued from this change over, namely, the assignment of a permanent serial number to each location and supplying each county sealer with a punch card for each location within his county.

There were 26,588 locations licensed with a total of 109,950 motor fuel dispensing devices.

Under the new automatic transmission fluid registration program there were one hundred and eighty-four (184) samples tested in the laboratory with ninety-four (94) approvals being issued.

Investigational Activities

During the year 1962, state petroleum products investigators and county sealers of weights and measures made 30,758 inspections of garages and service stations from which were being sold at retail motor fuel, motor oil, antifreeze, brake fluid, and automatic transmission fluid; 3,337 samples of these automotive products were analyzed in the laboratories and 459 field samples were analyzed; 1,244 written orders to conform were issued requesting compliance with Code provisions and 1,433 illegal signs were corrected. Prosecutions numbered 43 with 35 convictions.

3. Weighmaster Investigation and Enforcement Program

Personnel

1 Program Supervisor
5 Senior Weights and Measures Investigators

Distribution

This program is divided into four geographical areas, Northern California (including headquarters office at Sacramento), Central California, Coastal area, and Southern California. Field offices are located at San Francisco, Fresno, and South Gate (two investigators assigned to the South Gate office).

Scope

The function of this program is to insure correct weights through the licensing of all persons or firms in the business of public weighing, or buying, or selling over their own scale. Weighmasters are bonded to the State in the amount of two thousand dollars ($2,000) and are held responsible for the accuracy of the state certificate of weights and measures which they issue to persons availing themselves of their service.

California law provides that any person who weighs, measures or counts any commodity and issues therefor a signed or initialed statement or memorandum of weight, measure or count accepted as the accurate weight, measure or count upon which the purchase or sale of a commodity is based, is a public weighmaster.

Ninety percent (90%) of the more than three billion dollar California farm production was bought and sold on weighmaster certificates. Over two million certified weighings were made for baled cotton, and thousands more for cotton seed and field cotton.

Code Changes

The 1961 Session of the Legislature added two new categories of weighmasters to the code. In addition to the public weighmaster, the Legislature added private weighmaster and weighmaster-at-large.

Private weighmasters are those who sell their own material over their own scale (an example is a sand and gravel dealer).

Public weighmasters-at-large are those persons conducting business in other than a fixed location (an example is a weighmaster certifying to the weight of a shipload of product at various docks).

Weighmaster licenses issued during 1962 were:

Public Weighmaster Principals	2,508
Public Weighmaster Branches	1,635
Public Weighmaster Deputies	16,590
Private Weighmaster Principals	122
Private Weighmaster Branches	248
Private Weighmaster Deputies	1,478
Public Weighmaster-at-Large Principals	6
Public Weighmaster-at-Large Deputies	37

It is anticipated that the number of private weighmasters will increase during the next fiscal year. Many weighmasters who are eligible for this classification did not have the opportunity to become licensed before July 1, 1962.

The workload of the bureau investigators is divided between routine inspections (10%) and investigations involving complaints alleging incorrect or false weight certificates (90%).

Container Tares

The Business and Professions Code requires the bureau to establish, on behalf of the director, tare weights for containers used for the delivery of some agricultural commodities to processors. These tare weights are established by the bureau on data submitted by the county sealers.

Tares were established for eighty-two (82) processors at one hundred and forty-seven (147) separate locations where the fruit or vegetables were weighed. A total of nine hundred and thirty-seven (937) tares were established by the department during the 1962 calendar year. Seven hundred and sixty-six (766) tares were established for containers and one hundred and seventy-one (171) were established for pallets.

Establishing container tares is an important function of the department. Through rotation of boxes, over 20,000,000 field lugs were used in harvesting the 1962 bumper tomato crop. There are forty (40) field lugs and one (1) pallet used in transporting each ton of tomatoes. It is estimated that approximately 5,000,000 pallets are required to move the annual fruit and vegetable harvest from farm to market. An error of a half a pound could be disastrous to either the grower or to the processor.

The bureau received reports from three different grower organizations that incorrect container tares were being deducted. Requests for investigations were also received from twenty-six (26) individual growers. Upon investigation, it was found that incorrect tares were deducted for various pieces of the 11 crops (11) processors. The commodities included green fruit, dried fruit, nuts, vegetables, and berries. Adjustments were made by the processors to the growers in excess of $20,000.

Containers were checked as many as 12 times at some canneries during 1962 to insure that correct tares were being deducted.

4. Quantity Control of Packaged Commodities Program

During the past 10 years, the sale of commodities in package form has increased to the extent that approximately ninety-five percent (95%) of all commodities purchased by consumers are in package form. Instead of two or three hundred packaged items on the grocery shelves, the supermarket of today has in excess of seven thousand (7,000) packaged commodities.

Prepackaged commodities fall into two categories, "standard pack" which is usually filled in a large manufacturing plant, and "random pack" which is usually packaged on the premises of the retail outlet. Each class presents a different enforcement problem.

"Standard pack" commodities are usually distributed on a statewide or nationwide basis. It would be folly for each county sealer to periodically test all of the commodities in this class in his county. To do this would be a duplication of effort and a gross waste of the taxpayers money. To effect proper enforcement, and prevent duplication, a system has been developed whereby each county should test a given number of products each month. The type of product tested will vary from county to county. If short weight or measure commodities are found in one county, this information will be transferred through the bureau to another county in a different area in the State. If shortages are also found, a statewide enforcement program is ordered and products are ordered "off-sale" on a statewide basis. This system has proven very effective in removing short weight merchandise from the market place.

"Random pack" commodities, however, present an entirely different problem. As stated, these commodities are usually packaged on the premises where sold and thus become a direct obligation of the local sealer. It is his duty to periodically check-weigh each of these retail outlets to make certain that the products are being packaged and sold in accordance with the law.

While the actual function of commodity testing is an obligation of each individual county, the function of the bureau is to co-ordinate the activities of the various counties and to train county personnel in the use of the sampling procedure adopted by the department in 1961.

The personnel of the bureau and distribution follow:

Personnel

1 Program Supervisor.
4 Supervising Quantity Control Inspectors.

Distribution

The program supervisor and one supervising inspector are assigned to the headquarters office in Sacramento.

One supervising inspector is assigned to each of the area offices located in San Francisco, Fresno, and South Gate.

Scope

Each supervising inspector attempts to spend two days per month in each county in his area. However, demands of industry and heavily populated counties have made this an impossibility.

The training of new county employees assigned to the program has also created demands on the time of the supervising inspector to the extent that, at present, they are able to call on each county on an average of once each two months. It is anticipated that this situation may be relieved by the next fiscal year.

During 1962, there were eight (8) statewide enforcement programs ordered by the bureau. The products involved included ham slices, rice, cereal, halloween candies, legume inoculators, hydraulic brake fluid, poultry (during holiday season), and garlic.

As an example of the effectiveness of a statewide enforcement program, it is interesting to note that two (2) full railroad carloads of rice were returned to a single packer in one of the southern states.

At the inception of the program in September of 1961, the incidence of short weight or measure packages was found to be 41.9%. Through the diligence of the county sealers and the use of the new sampling and testing procedure adopted by the department, the 1962 year end average had been reduced to 8.08%. This does not mean that 8.08% of all packaged commodities on the shelves today are short weight. It must be remembered that through the co-ordinated enforcement program the local sealer's attention is directed toward those commodities suspected of being short weight or measure. Since the actual number of commodities tested on a wide basis is comparatively small (approximately 400) as compared to seven thousand (7,000) on the shelves, it is reasonable to expect that the chances of picking up a short weight package would be only a small fraction of one percent (1%).

During the past year, county sealers tested a total of 53,424 individual lots of various commodities representing 15,708,113 packages. Of this total 1,271,085 packages were rejected. The rejections equaled 3,986,235 pounds, 41,055 gallons, and 6,581 cubic feet of various products for a total dollar value of $2,420,323.

This is an excellent comparison of increased workload when compared to the year 1959 in which there were 4,535,535 packages checked and 393,891 removed from sale. The record speaks well for the accomplishments of the county sealers using the newly adopted procedures.

County Reports

The Business and Professions Code requires county sealers to submit to the department annually, and at such other times as the department requires, a written report of the work accomplished during the year. The following is a compilation of the annual reports of all county sealers and summarizes their accomplishments during the 1962 calendar period:

Motion carried.

AN AGE OF CONTRADICTION

As modern man races through the 20th Century, a flagrant contradiction presses upon the human race. On the one hand, there is the confident expectation that through technical advance we can create a world of plenty in wealth and goods, a world of scientific wonder largely free from poverty and want. On the other hand, there is the bitter reality after long years of war, a haunting fear of our failure in founding even the beginnings of harmony between nations with true peace and security.

Something is not proceeding aright in the internal scheme of modern life. The Christian conviction is that we can overcome this contradiction by remaining firm on the foundation of the true nature of man and belief in the truth about God—by a courageous and prudent reassessment especially of moral and spiritual values. We are not living in less favorable conditions than were our ancestors. By their faith in God and spiritual values, they overcame many contradictions of their day. Fully informed Christians are convinced that the contradiction one witnesses today is proof of the glaring break between life and Christian belief, and that it is necessary, before all else, to heal this breach. All do not see this or accept this understanding. Some are exasperated by the contradiction but reluctant to surrender the illusion of man's omnipotence left to himself.

In substance this is the opinion which they hold and profess: that the fundamental contradiction of our time can be removed by man himself, without God, without religion. It will not be eradicated, they say, until modern man, who is at once the creator and the creature of this technical age, advances right to the end of his new road. The root of the present day contradiction in their minds consists in going only halfway or in looking for some kind of compromise between religion and the technical mind that is a god unto itself.

But the unbeliever who espouses the cause of the technical revolution cannot thrust aside the place of God without aggravating the contradiction to which we allude. The deep meaning of human life and any understanding of the dignity of human nature and our world of people does not rest on the same calculated formulae and laws that blind inanimate nature does.

The first step toward victory over today's contradiction begins with an awareness and acceptance of human reality in its fullness: that there runs through human nature a weakness despite all man's goodness and power to which proud minds close their eyes. In having the freedom of choice to seek what is good, we hold also the freedom to turn toward evil if we so will. This first manifested itself in man's defiance of his Creator, spurred by the same pride that goads modern man to think he stands alone in his progress. Original sin and its consequence deprived man not of his dominion over the earth, but rather of his security in the exercise of that dominion. The Christian knows that because of the weakness of sin against his God, he would walk life's path with sorrow; that his life would be a mixture of confidence and anguish, of wealth and misery, of success and failure, of life and death, of security and uncertainty, until the ultimate decision is given at the gate of eternity. The true Christian knows his Redeemer came among men to heal the mortal wound inflicted on souls by sin; to restore their goodness and confer on them a power of divine assistance that would enable them to conquer the general disorder caused by sin within their souls: that weakness remains; that proneness to evil does not disappear. In lives lived in union with God's grace, it can be overcome.

How, then, ought a believer in God comport himself before the painful contradiction which weighs heavily upon the modern world which we alluded to in the beginning. He certainly is not right in turning his back on the world's plight, nor can he exempt himself from contributing to its solution. He ought to persuade his fellow man not to look on human nature with a systematic pessimism or a gratuitous optimism. To fulfill our obligation toward those who do not comprehend this reality of sin, it is necessary we try to understand the basis of their confusion.

No matter how modern men are in the sense of being unbelievers, they know men are prone to fall morally, but many ascribe these perverse inclinations only to morbid sickness, to functional weaknesses which can be cured. When all the laws to which man is subject are known, they say, we will arrive at a complete cure of these present deficiencies. It will be necessary, they add, to await the day in which, from a fuller knowledge of man's interior mechanism, there will arise a therapeutic art capable of curing his morbid moral dispositions. Why, they ask themselves, should man remain the only structure in this world which cannot be comprehended and controlled?

The bitter fruits of this false outlook on reality are already being reaped. The softness generally lamented in the training of youth, excessive indulgence in the face of crime, silence in regard to responsibility and aversion to the very idea of punishment, however just, are the direct consequences of a concept of man according to which everyone is in himself good and all defects derive from a failure to gear man to the processes to which he, together with his world, is subject.

But can one justify hopes which are based on a conception which betrays an ignorance of the true nature of man which regards predispositions to evil like the breakdowns of a machine, which are corrected by technical knowledge? Man has been constituted a free agent by his Creator. He dominates his actions because he is a person, a spiritual being. In this does his dignity consist and his limitations also, for he is capable of doing good, but also evil. We need to return to a sense of true realism, Christian realism, which embraces with the same sureness man's dignity and his limits, his capacity for self conquest as well as his capacity to sin. Educators as well as the children they teach, no less than the mature individual, should, in preparing for life, acknowledge again the reality of sin and the need of God's helping hand of grace.

Modern democracy depends on the moral character of its citizens and that structure will necessarily fall when it does not nor cannot any longer establish a relationship between itself and the individual moral responsibilities of its citizens.

A true sense of the individual's dignity and sense of responsibility before God and man, as well as an awareness of his capacity to commit evil, is no longer flourishing among our people. It is this reform or return to Christian realism, and not the reform of social institutions, which is most urgent. Twentieth Century politics cannot ignore this, nor can it permit continuance of the error of insisting to separate the state from religious truths in favor of an atheistic experiment that facts have been unable to justfy.

Security is the keenest desire of those alive today. They beg this from society, the state and its plans. The self-styled realists of this age have proved themselves incapable of giving it, because they deny the truths about this Creator and make themselves arbiters of the plan of creation.

On the contrary, religion and the reality of history teach that the social structures, such as matrimony and the family, the community and professional groups, society's strength in personal ownership of property, are essential cells which secure man's freedom and his functioning. Therefore, these are not to be tampered with, nor this structure made subject to arbitrary evaluation or revision.

When we speak of freedoms and personal responsibility and properly regulated social relations, we indeed speak of human values for man effects them and profits by them, but they are likewise religious and divine values, if one considers their source. Assuredly those responsible for seeking this freedom and security ought to work toward restoring society to its true and supreme Lawgiver, persuading themselves that only a concept of society which has its origin in God protects this freedom and will lead to security. Those who, through atheism in theory or simply in practice, make gods of technology and the mechanical progress of events inevitably become the real enemies of true human liberty, since they deal with mankind as with inanimate objects in a laboratory. So advanced has this attack on basic human values gone that not a few public figures possessing apparently no strong religious convictions themselves, nevertheless, wish and are obliged to defend for the sake of the common good those fundamental values which draw their significance from religion and from God.

Would-be realists do not like to admit this and even blame religion all the more for turning into a religious quarrel what they think should be merely a political and economic difference of opinion. They try to persuade us that the present-day disputes between East and West are really inoffensive and that a little more common sense would suffice to produce tranquillity between divergent economic ambitions and solid relations between political powers. To refer to absolute values, they claim, unhappily falsifies the true state of affairs, whets passions and makes it more difficult to advance toward a practical and reasonable union. But who wants such a counterfeit brand of peace and security which will lead to a damming of man's true dignity and freedom under God and ends in inhuman slavery.

There are occasions and times in the lives of nations in which only recourse to higher principles can establish clearly the boundaries between right and wrong, between what is lawful and what is immoral, and bring peace to consciences faced with grave decisions. It is consoling that in some countries men are talking about conscience and its demands. They show that they have not forgotten that society is safe from chaos only in so far as it is supported by absolute norms and an absolute end; they implicitly condemn those who believe they can resolve the questions of human co-existence on the basis of good external appearances and acting only in the direction our interest and power can lead us.

All true peace and justice is founded on and safeguarded by the truth about God and ourselves, His law of commandment guiding us. For this, all good men will not cease to pray and fashion their lives until God calls them one by one into His eternal presence.

Senate Resolution No. 149

Relating to weights and measures

WHEREAS, In our modern society wherein business is generally conducted on a monetary basis and not on a barter basis and where business is negotiated many times over great distances, the establishment of clear, uniform standards of weights and measures is essential to commerce and to our economy; and

WHEREAS, During the past 10 years the sale of commodities in package form has increased to the extent that approximately 95 percent of all commodities purchased by consumers are in package form and where formerly two or three hundred packaged items were on grocery shelves the supermarket of today has over 7,000 packaged commodities; and

WHEREAS, Rapid technological changes and development of modern packaging techniques has resulted in the obsolescence of many of the weights and measures statutes and has pointed out the inadequacies of the regulation in this area; and

WHEREAS, Inadequate regulation of weights and measures permits unscrupulous individuals to compete unfairly with other manufacturers and in many cases deceive the unsuspecting purchaser or consumer who is prevented from receiving the maximum benefit from his expenditures and the benefits of a competitive market are dependent, in large measure, upon informed consumers who are able to judge the relative merits of similar products; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate of the State of California, That the Senate Rules Committee is directed to assign to an appropriate interim committee the study of modernizing California's weight and measure and packaging laws and to direct the committee to report thereon to the Senate by the fifth legislative day of the 1965 Regular Session of the Legislature.

ROLL CALL

PRAYER

Prayer was offered by the Chaplain, Rev. Father Keith Kenny:

Tomorrow, O Lord, The bands will play and the people will march throughout the world—the old world and the new. Men and boys will march, women and girls will march. Many will stride joyfully in the hope of freedom and justice, proud to belong to the working classes of the world. Others will strut in mechanical rhythm because there are no longer human hopes and high aspirations in their hearts—marching as prisoners do, as a manswarm, servants and not masters to technology, urged on not by a sense of community in work-life, but by the cruel thrust of oppression.

May the echo of the marching cadence our counting of the blessings we have received of Thee, O God. Grant that freedom falter not here, nor the love of it grow cold. May we rejoice with those who will rejoice tomorrow, with working people everywhere; and may we weep with those who have forgotten how to weep for others in the dialectic of dehumanization. AMEN.

"SECTION 1. Article 7.5 (commencing with Section 4300) is added to Chapter 17, Division 6 of the Agricultural Code, to read:

Article 7.5. Regional Equalization Pools

4300. The purpose of this article is to authorize the Director of Agriculture to establish interrelated regional equalization pools in accordance with the provisions of this article to achieve parity by all fluid milk producers for the prices they receive for fluid milk.

4300.1. As used in this article "parity" means the receipt by a producer of the class 1 price for 82 to 85 percent of his base production of fluid milk as determined by the director.

4300.2. The director shall by regulation establish interrelated regional equalization pool areas in accordance with the following standards:

(a) Each marketing area heretofore or hereafter established under the provisions of this chapter for which a stabilization and marketing plan is in effect shall be included in a regional equalization pool area.

(b) Each regional equalization pool area shall include one or more marketing area established in accordance with the provisions of this chapter. Each regional equalization pool area shall cover as large a geographical area as may be consistent with other standards provided.

(c) The boundaries for each regional pool area shall further be determined on the basis of the trade flows of fluid milk, taking into consideration the production of milk within the area for distribution within the area and the volume of milk within the area transported for distribution and sale within another pool area or areas and other pertinent factors, if any, related to the movement of milk within or without the pool area.

4300.3. The director may modify the boundaries of regional pool areas after a public hearing with notice to all producers and distributors in the area or areas affected as provided for in Section 4300.4 if he finds that the modification is necessary to better accomplish the purposes of the article.

4300.4. Following the establishment of regional equalization pool areas the director shall:

(a) Formulate a proposed uniform pooling plan for each regional pool area.

(b) Hold one or more public hearings in each regional pool area to consider such pooling plan. Notice of the hearing shall be given to each producer and distributor in the area.

(c) Following the public hearing and on the basis of testimony evidence and facts developed at the hearing, the director shall prepare a uniform pooling plan for each pool area to be submitted to producers in a referendum to determine whether producers approve or disapprove the pooling plan.

4300.5. Each pool plan shall include the provisions stated in Sections 4300.7 to 4301.9, inclusive, and any other provisions determined necessary by the director to accomplish the purposes of the article and the plan shall not interfere with the contractual relationship between producers and distributors except as provided in this article.

4300.6. All distributors and producer-distributors with plants receiving fluid milk in the pool area shall be included in the pool plan except producer-distributors who produce for class 1 use less than 200 gallons per day and process for class 1 use less than 200 gallons of fluid milk of his own production per processing day determined on a two month daily average.

4300.7. Payments by distributors for fluid milk shall be determined by stabilization and marketing plan prices for marketing areas included in each pool area and shall be pooled for the purpose of payment to producers by distributors.

4300.8. All distributors, including producer-distributors, shall pay to the director in accordance with provisions established in the pooling plan, the value of all fluid milk received, handled or purchased from producers including a producer-distributor's own production less all deductions, allowances, or charges, provided for in the applicable milk stabilization plan.

4300.9. The director shall make the pool calculations for the payments due each producer and shall make payment to the producer from the payments received from distributors for fluid milk, provided that the director may appoint any distributor as a trustee for the money due to the producers for milk received by that distributor from such producers.

4301. Each producer shall be assigned a daily base quantity for the establishment of his payments for fluid milk. A nonprofit co-operative association of producers which receives milk from its producer members or manages the sale of its members' milk and is authorized to receive payment for milk sold by it to distributors, shall be considered a producer for pooling purposes and the total of the assigned bases for its individual members shall be assigned to the association instead of to the individual producer members. The assigned base of such a co-operative association shall be allocated by the association to its members in accordance with the bylaws of the association.

Except as otherwise provided, the daily base quantity for each producer shall be his average daily production during 1962. Provision shall be made to establish a daily base for fluid milk producers who did not produce fluid milk in 1962. Any producer with class 1 usage in excess of parity during the year next preceding the first year of operation of the pooling plan may, within the first two years of operation of the plan, increase his base quantity of fluid milk to achieve parity class 1 usage based on his class 1 usage for the year next preceding the first year of operation of the plan, if his production is increased so as to permit him to achieve parity without causing a reduction in his actual class 1 usage below that of the year next preceding the first year of operation under the pool plan.

4301.1. Total class 1 usage of fluid milk in each pool plan shall be assigned to individual producers to accomplish as nearly as possible the following:

(a) No producer shall receive payment for a lesser amount of class 1 usage than his actual 1962 class 1 usage except those receiving more than parity during the first two years of operation of the plan who do not increase their base.

(b) Producers with the lowest percentage of class 1 usage in relation to their base quantity shall have priority in the allocation of increases in class 1 usage.

(c) Commencing with the fifth year of operation each fluid milk producer within a pool plan area shall have achieved parity or shall receive the same percentage of class 1 usage for all base milk as any other producer.

(d) In any period during which the total state class 1 usage is less than such usage in 1962, each producer's percentage of class 1 usage for that period shall be proportionately reduced.

4301.2. Each distributor, including producer-distributors, shall make payment to the director, or hold as trustee for payment to producers, the money due for all fluid milk in accordance with prices established in the applicable stabilization and marketing plan.

4301.3. Payment to producers by the director or trustee for all base milk received or handled by distributors in a pool area shall be determined on the basis of a blend price for the milkfat, solids-not-fat or skim milk as the case may be, utilized by distributors in the various classes. In determining the blend prices for base milk, the director shall allocate all class 1 usage first to base milk, next class 2, next class 3.

4301.4. The blend price for overbase milk shall be calculated by allocating first the highest numbered class usage and then to the lower numbered class usages if any; i.e., first to class 3, then to class 2, then to class 1.

4301.5. If the obligation of a distributor, designated by the director as trustee, for total payment of stabilization plan prices for milk utilized by him, exceeds the total amount due his producers, he shall pay the producers the amounts due to them and shall pay the balance to the director.

4301.6. The director shall pay a trustee distributor the difference between the amounts it pays producers at blend prices and its total producer price paid under applicable stabilization and marketing plans if the aggregate of such payments are more than the total payment calculated for its usage at stabilization plan prices.

4301.7. Distributors, including producer-distributors, not designated as trustees by the director shall pay the director for all fluid milk received or handled by them from producers at the applicable stabilization and marketing plan prices. The director shall pay such producers for the milk in accordance with the pool blend prices.

4301.8. The pools shall be administered by the director. Each distributor trustee and the director shall deduct from moneys owed the producer and pay into the equalization pool a maximum of _____ cents per cwt. for all milk received or handled for producers to cover the cost of administering the pool plan. The director may employ such personnel as may be required to carry out this article. The funds provided by this section may be used by the director only for the purposes of this article.

4301.9. The director shall include in pooling plans a method for assigning usage and usage payments from one regional pool to another to achieve the purposes of the article.

4302. The director shall conduct a statewide referendum among producers of fluid milk to determine whether producers approve the pooling plan. Each producer of fluid milk at the time of the referendum who was a producer of fluid milk in 1962 shall be eligible to vote. The director shall mail a ballot to each eligible producer together with a copy of the uniform pooling plan for his region. Each producer shall indicate on the ballot whether he approves or disapproves the pooling plan for his region and shall return the ballot to the director within the time prescribed by the director. Producer approval shall be determined on the basis of the following:

(a) Not less than 51 percent of the total number of eligible producers in the State shall have voted in the referendum.

(b) Sixty-five percent or more of the total number of eligible producers who voted in the referendum who produced 51 percent or more of the total amount of fluid milk produced in 1962 in the State by all producers who voted in the referendum approve the plan or 51 percent or more of the total number of eligible producers who voted in the referendum who produced 65 percent or more of the total amount of fluid milk produced in 1962 by all producers who voted in the referendum approve the plan.

4302.1. If the director finds that statewide the producers have approved the establishment of regional equalization pooling plans in accordance with the provisions of Section 4302 he shall establish and make effective all regional equalization pooling plans simultaneously.

4302.2. Regional pooling plans may be amended after public hearings conducted by the director in each pool area to consider proposed amendments to the pooling plans. The procedures for the giving of notice and the conducting of public hearings under the provisions of this article shall be the same as provided in Article 5 (commencing with Section 4270) of this chapter for public hearings on stabilization and marketing plans.

4302.3. For the purpose of this article "distributor" means any person as defined in Section 4216 and also any other person receiving, handling or purchasing fluid milk from producers for any purpose.

4302.4. Class 1 minimum prices to producers as provided in each stabilzation and marketing plan shall be decreased by the director after public hearing in accordance with the following:

(a) The director shall reduce stabilization and marketing plan class 1 minimum prices to producers twenty-three cents ($0.23) per hundredweight or as nearly thereto as is practical in the pricing of the individual components of fluid milk immediately following any twelve-month period for which data is available when the total statewide production of fluid milk fat or market skim milk for the twelve-month period exceeds 130 percent of the total statewide class 1 usage of fluid milk fat or fluid skim milk during the twelve-month period unless the director, after such hearings, finds that the decrease is not justified and is not necessary to better accomplish the purposes of this chapter and this article.

(b) Any price decrease made effective as provided in this section shall be reflected in minimum wholesale and minimum retail prices for fluid milk established under the provisions of this chapter. Such reduction in minimum wholesale and retail prices may be made effective by the director without the public hearings otherwise required for the amendment of minimum wholesale and retail prices.

(c) No price decrease under this section shall be made sooner than six months following the last such decrease.

4302.5. The director may issue such regulations as he may find necessary to accomplish the provisions of this article. The regulations shall be adopted and promulgated in conformity with the provisions of the Administrative Procedure Act as provided in Section 4240. The establishment of regional equalization pool areas and the establishment of regional equalization pool plans shall be in conformity with the procedures established in this chapter and shall be substantially the procedures outlined in this chapter for the establishment and amendment of stabilization and marketing plans.

4302.6. Any provision of this article which is in conflict with other provisions of this chapter shall take precedence over such other provisions. Any provision of any pool plan established under the provisions of this article which is in conflict with any provision of any stabilization and marketing plan shall take precedence over such stabilization and marketing plan.

4302.7. Regulations established under the provisions of Section 4302.5 shall make provisions for establishing requirements and conditions under which an individual producer's base quantity of fluid milk production may be transferred to another producer."

Amendment No. 3

On page 1, strike out lines 2 to 26, inclusive; and strike out all of page 2.

Amendments read, and adopted.

RESOLUTIONS

The following resolutions were offered:

By Senator Murdy:

Senate Resolution No. 150

Relative to the dangers of antibiotic drugs

WHEREAS, The Members of the Senate of the State of California have been cognizant that there has been an increase in the use and prescription of drugs which can be dangerous, and sometimes fatal, to persons, if they are improperly administered; and

WHEREAS, There is a necessity that laws be enacted governing the use, the manner of prescribing, and the place of use of such drugs; and

WHEREAS, In 1961, Senate Resolution No. 22 was adopted, directing the Senate Fact Finding Committee on Public Health and Safety to conduct a study of the use of antibiotic drugs, particularly chloromycetin, and requesting the Department of Public Health to co-operate with the committee in its study and render such assistance as the committee should require; and

WHEREAS, Since 1929 when penicillin was discovered by Dr. Alexander Fleming of England, research has developed 25 different available drugs now commercially available for treatment of disease in man, including chloromycetin, a broad-spectrum antibiotic used in the treatment of typhoid fever, influenzal meningitis, as well as severe salmonella infections, and for other life-threatening infections, as prescribed by physicians; and

WHEREAS, In recent years there have been reports that use, or perhaps misuse, of antibiotic drugs has had fatal or near fatal results, and, in particular, chloromycetin has been mentioned as a cause of aplastic anemia, a blood disorder in which the bone marrow is affected and production of blood cells is suppressed and which almost always results in death; and

WHEREAS, In its report to the Senate in January, 1963, the Senate Fact Finding Committee on Public Health and Safety conservatively estimated that 60 to 80 deaths result from aplastic anemia annually in California; and

WHEREAS, There is need for continuing investigation of fatal aplastic anemia and of antibiotic drugs, particularly chloromycetin; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate of the State of California, That the State Department of Public Health is requested to continue its investigation of fatal aplastic anemia in this State, including investigation of conditions suspected of being aplastic anemia, though reported otherwise, and of deaths thought to be due to use of chloromycetin and related causes, and to report thereon to the Senate, including its recommendations as to needed legislation, by the 30th calendar day of the 1965 Regular Session of the Legislature; and be it further

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Senate is directed to transmit a copy of this resolution to the Director of the State Department of Public Health.

Resolution read, and referred to Committee on Rules.

By Senator Murdy:

Senate Resolution No. 151

Relative to chloramphenicol

WHEREAS, The Senate Fact Finding Committee on Public Health and Safety has recently conducted a thorough investigation of the subject of use of chloramphenicol and the casual relationship between such use and death from aplastic anemia; and

WHEREAS, The committee concluded that a need for additional legislation is not now indicated, but that important contributions toward improved practices can be made by interested private associations and public agencies; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate of the State of California, That, pursuant to the recommendations of the Senate Fact Finding Committee on Public Health and Safety, the Senate urges as follows:

1. That the California Medical Association, the American Medical Association, the California State Dental Association, and the Southern California State Dental Association take immediate steps to better inform and to better police their members directly and through their various county units in regard to the drug chloramphenicol; that a program of education be undertaken, with proper warnings against use of this drug for minor infections, as specified by the Food and Drug Administration; that a program to improve the reporting of aplastic anemia cases, to emphasize the need for more thorough and more frequent blood and bone marrow checks, be undertaken; that the C.M.A. and A.M.A. investigate and report on any and all prescription drugs of a dangerous or toxic nature at regular intervals, both to physicians and pharmacists;

2. That steps be taken by the medical profession and by the pharmacists to provide that there shall be no refill of any prescription of chloramphenicol unless the patient and the physician consult and the physician writes a new prescription; that, where called for, the physician should be obligated to repeat laboratory testing of the patient before a new prescription is written;

3. That the State Department of Public Health should be authorized to keep a closer check on all antibiotic drugs which are known to have possible toxic reactions, and should proceed as necessary in order to protect the public interest in all phases of the testing, prescribing and use related to such drugs; and be it further

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Senate is directed to transmit copies of this resolution to the Secretary of the California Medical Association, the Secretary of the American Medical Association, the Secretary of the California State Dental Association, the Secretary of the Southern California State Dental Association, the Secretary of the State Pharmaceutical Association, the State Director of Public Health, and the President of the State Board of Pharmacy.

LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL'S OPINION

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, OFFICE OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL
SACRAMENTO, April 11, 1963

Hon. Randolph Collier
Senate Chamber

Billboards: Constitutional Aspects of State Regulation (Senate Bill No. 332 of the 1963 General Session)—No. 12153

DEAR SENATOR COLLIER:

Facts

You have submitted the following proposed amended version of Senate Bill No. 332 of the 1963 General Session which would add Section 5288 to the Business and Professions Code to provide as follows:

"5288. Notwithstanding any other provision of this chapter, no advertising structure shall be placed within 660 feet of any highway included in the national system of interstate and defense highways other than the following:

"(1) Directional or other official signs or notices that are required or authorized by law.

"(2) Signs advertising the sale or lease of the property upon which they are located.

"(3) Signs erected or maintained pursuant to authorization or permitted under state law, and not inconsistent with the national policy and standards, advertising activities being conducted at a location within twelve miles of the point at which such signs are located.

"(4) Signs erected or maintained pursuant to authorization in state law, and not inconsistent with the national policy and standards, and designed to give information in the specific interest of the traveling public.

"This prohibition does not apply to those segments of the national system of interstate and defense highways which traverse commercial or industrial zones within the boundaries of incorporated municipalities, as such boundaries existed on April 16, 1958, wherein the use of real property adjacent to the national system of interstate and defense highways is subject to municipal regulations or control, or which traverse other areas where the land use, as of April 16, 1958, is clearly established by state law as industrial or commercial."

The amended material has been underlined.

With respect to the above proposed amendments, you have asked the following question:

Question

Would the section violate the "Municipal Home Rule" provisions of the California Constitution or violate the equal protection clauses of the United States and California Constitutions?

Opinion

No.

Analysis

A. Municipal Home Rule

Section 6 of Article XI of the California Constitution declares the policy of preserving local self government by providing that chartered cities are empowered ". . . to make and enforce all laws and regulations in respect to municipal affairs, subject only to the restrictions and limitations provided in their several charters, and in respect to other matters they shall be subject to and controlled by general laws." (Emphasis added.) Article XI, Section 8, subdivision (j), contains provisions to the same effect.

The basic rule of law embodied in these constitutional provisions is that chartered cities which have availed themselves of these home rule provisions are empowered to legislate free from limitation by the Legislature in matters properly regarded as municipal affairs (Wiley v. City of Berkeley (1958), 136 Cal. App. 2d 10); but are restricted in matters of statewide concern by the rule that local regulations which are in conflict with general law are invalid (State Const., Art. XI, Sec. 11; Chavez v. Sargent (1959), 52 Cal. 2d 162; Abbott v. City of Los Angeles (1960), 53 Cal. 2d 674; In re Lane (1962), 58 A.C. 97).

The specific problem under consideration here is whether, with respect to chartered cities, the prohibition or regulation of billboards on lands within 800 feet of highways included in the National System of Interstate and Defense Highways within a chartered city is strictly a municipal affair.

What is strictly a municipal affair is not always easy to define and no exact definition of the term "municipal affairs" can be formulated since the courts have indicated that judicial interpretation is necessary to give it meaning in each controversial case (Dairy Belle Farms v. Brock (1960), 27 Cal. App. 2d 146, 154).

The field of highway safety is a matter of state concern and not strictly a municipal affair (see Tipsky v. Benson (1942), 20 Cal. 2d 566, 569-570). Clearly, the growing toll of highway accidents and deaths is given recognition of the statewide interest in such matters. The section here in question would regulate only those lands adjacent to interstate highways and, although the bill contains no legislative declaration respecting the purpose for which it is enacted, we believe that a court could reasonably conclude that the section is designed at least in part to regulate a traffic hazard, namely, distracting billboards. Such a conclusion appears reasonable since the section incorporates the national policy towards regulating outdoor advertising which in part is intended to promote safety of public travel (23 U. S. C., Sec. 131).

In addition, it should be noted that the courts apply the rule that in case of doubt as to whether a matter is a statewide or municipal affair the doubt is resolved in favor of the legislative authority of the State (Ex parte Daniels v. City of Los Angeles (1960), 53 Cal. 2d 674, 681).

It is our opinion, therefore, that a court would hold the subject matter here involved is a statewide affair and that Section 5288 would prevail over conflicting local ordinances of a chartered city.

3. Denial of Equal Protection.

Since the section would not apply to on-site signs advertising the sale or lease of property on which the sign is located or off-site signs advertising businesses conducted on such signs are located within twelve miles of the business, it must be considered in light of the provisions of the United States and California constitutions that prohibit the denial of the equal protection of the laws. The applicable constitutional principle has been summarized by the United States Supreme Court in the case of Railway v. Illinois (1961), 6 L. Ed. 2d 873, as follows (at page 880):

"Although the guaranty has long developed, the Court has held that the Fourteenth Amendment permits the States a wide scope of discretion in enacting laws which affect some groups of citizens differently than others. The constitutional safeguard is offended only if the classification rests on grounds wholly irrelevant to the achievement of the State's objective. State legislatures are presumed to have acted within their constitutional power despite the fact that, in practice, their laws result in some inequality. A statutory discrimination will not be set aside if any state of facts reasonably may be conceived to justify it." (Citations)

See also Ruppe v. State Employees' Retirement System (1962), 58 A.C. 822, 827.

The equal protection clause goes no further than prohibiting invidious discrimination (Williamson v. Lee Optical of Oklahoma, Inc. (1955), 99 L. Ed. 563, 573).

It has been held that it is not an arbitrary classificaton to distinguish between on-site and off-site signs in regulating the use of outdoor billboards in view of the fact that on-site signs are wholly incidental to the business conducted upon the site, whereas off-site signs constitute a wholly distinct business, that of outdoor advertising (see National Advertising Co. v. County of Monterey (1962), 211 A.C.A. 463, 467-468; In re Opinion of the Justices (1961—N.H.), 169 Atl. 2d 762, 764; Contra: Chaster Properties, Inc. v. Preston (1962—Ohio), 184 N.E. 2d 552, 560-561). We believe the same reasoning would apply to signs advertising activities conducted within 12 miles of the point at which the signs are located. In other words, we believe that such signs constitute a distinct class separate and apart from the general business of outdoor advertising, since they advertise activities taking place within a relatively short distance from the particular point on the highway (which may be of some interest to the motorist in his travels), rather than advertising products or activities generally.

It is our opinion, therefore, that since the classifications here considered are not "wholly irrelevant" to the apparent purposes of the act, we cannot conclude as a matter of law that the classifications constitute the invidious discrimination prohibited by the United States and California Constitutions.

Very truly yours,
A. C. MORRISON, Legislative Counsel

The Sounds of California Sing Thy Praises, O God . . .

. . . the roar of the surf and the clap of thunder over the mountain peaks

. . . the rush of the streams and rivers, the soft whisper of the waving grain in the valleys,

. . . the animal sounds of woodland and farm, the call of the wild geese,

. . . the busy sounds around the industrial centers:

. . . the clanking of metal and the reverberation of hammer blows as the cities are abuilding . . .
. . . the factory noises
. . . the roar and swish of speeding automobiles, the distant wail of a locomotive, the dignified blast of a steamship whistle, the screaming of jet engines as the giant airliner soars from the earth,
. . . the cry of a baby, the whisper of lovers, the voices of the people of our land . . .
. . . the sounds too of the Capitol here, the voice of democracy.

All of this is a magnificent chorus, a living hymn to Thy glory. And to this we add this day our voices. AMEN.

Senate Resolution No. 89

Relative to forest fire hazards

WHEREAS, Data collected in the State's March snow survey indicated that water supply conditions during the spring and summer of this year will be seriously short in many of the forest areas of California; and

WHEREAS, Late storms in Northern California have brought precipitation and snowpacks to normal, but the upper San Joaquin Valley and Southern California are still far below normal; and

WHEREAS, It would, therefore, appear that the State will be faced with an extremely critical threat of forest fires this year; and

WHEREAS, Due to California's long, hot, and dry summers, regardless of winter precipitation this State always experiences extreme fire hazard conditions; and

WHEREAS, Thus, in order to protect and preserve the forest areas which are so important not only for recreational uses, but also to the entire economy of the State, it is imperative that immediate action be taken by public and private agencies using or having jurisdiction over forest areas to formulate plans for the control and use of the forests designed to diminish the expected forest fire hazard; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate of the State of California, That the Senate requests the State Division of Forestry, the United States Forest Service and all other public and private agencies which use or have jurisdiction over forest areas in California

The employer, prior to this time, has been advised by the Division of Labor Law Enforcement that the division believes that such an agreement is unlawful.

Question

Would the employer be guilty of a misdemeanor under Assembly Bill No. 821 in such a case?

Opinion

In our opinion he would not.

Analysis

Assembly Bill No. 821 would add Section 432.5 to the Labor Code, to read:

> "432.5. No employer, or agent, manager, superintendent, or officer thereof, shall require any employee or applicant for employment to agree, in writing, to any term or condition which is known by such employer, or agent, manager, superintendent, or officer thereof to be prohibited by law."

Violation of the section would be a misdemeanor (Sec. 433, Lab. C.). However, the employer, in the above facts, has not required the employee to agree to a term "prohibited by law" and, therefore, has not violated the section. He has required the employee to agree to a deduction from his wages in case the employer suffers a loss because of the employee's violation of his express instructions regarding the extending of credit. We are aware of no provision in the Labor Code or in the relevant regulations prohibiting such a term. Moreover, such a term is consistent with the policy of the sections of the Labor Code which require employees to substantially comply with directions of their employers (Sec. 2856) and make employees who are guilty of culpable negligence liable to their employers for damage caused (Sec. 2865).

If the term in question were unlawful, the advice of the Division of Labor Law Enforcement as to its unlawfulness would be relevant to the question of the employer's knowledge. However, such advice does not, in itself, constitute a "prohibition by law" of the term.

The preceding analysis has been based on the assumption that the case in question involves only a written agreement of the kind described and does not involve an assignment or release of wages.

Very truly yours,

A. C. MORRISON

In accordance with Article IV, Section 34, of the Constitution, the Governor presented the following communication recommending the consideration of Assembly Bill No. 1580.

To the Honorable Members of the Assembly and Senate:

Assembly Bill No. 1580, "An act making an appropriation to the Department of the California Highway Patrol for the payment of the judgment rendered against the State, and declaring the urgency thereof, to take effect immediately," in my opinion constitutes an emergency bill within the meaning of that term as used in Section 34 of Article IV of the Constitution of the State of California, the consideration of which should not await the final enactment of the Budget Bill.

I, therefore, recommend consideration of Assembly Bill No. 1580 as an emergency measure.

COMMUNICATIONS

The following communication was received and read, and on motion of Senator Teale, ordered printed in the Journal:

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, GOVERNOR'S OFFICE
SACRAMENTO, May 8, 1963

Hon. George Miller, Jr., Chairman
Senate Finance Committee, State Capitol, Sacramento

DEAR GEORGE: The Department of Finance has just completed its customary May review of the original revenue estimates made in November preliminary to the submission of the Governor's Budget.

This revenue review includes consideration of newly available figures on actual sales, franchise and income tax collections as well as new economic forecast data.

The department now reports substantial upward revisions in the November estimates, revisions which, taken together with other developments since my budget proposal was submitted in February, enable me to make three significant changes in my budget and revenue recommendations for the 1963-64 and 1964-65 fiscal years.

First, I propose that the forgiveness feature of the personal income tax withholding system I proposed we initiate on July 1, 1964, be increased from 25 percent to 50 percent, a difference of $85 million in favor of taxpayers in the 1964-65 fiscal year.

Second, I propose that we add to the recommended $30 million increase in state aid to local school districts, in order to provide further relief of property taxpayers. I suggest that this be done by offering some temporary financial assistance to districts adversely affected by the countywide school tax equalization system I recommended as a prerequisite to any increased state aid in the 1963-64 fiscal year and thereafter.

Third, I propose a significant change in my recommendations on the method of handling tidelands oil fund money. The potential 1963-64 revenues from that source now also appear to be significantly greater than anticipated in November. The funds to become available are certain to be adequate to meet both the needs of our long-term water financing plan and to assist with our educational financing problems.

All three of these recommendations will be spelled out in detail in subsequent communications.

They will thus permit us to meet more fully the State's most urgent needs without new or increased taxes for the next two years.

Here are the revenue figure revisions which permit these modifications in my program.

For the current fiscal year, 1962-63, tax revenues are expected to be $13.6 million more than anticipated, largely because of improved sales and franchise tax receipts in recent months. As reported yesterday, an additional $6 million in expenditure savings is also expected. This changes the prospective budget surplus on June 30 of this year from $3.6 million to $23.2 million.

For the forthcoming budget year, 1963-64, tax revenues are expected to be another $30.6 million more than anticipated, principally because of the improved business outlook and a resulting higher volume of personal income.

Although there were no formal budget projections of 1964-65 income, an estimate was submitted March 22d at the request of the Assembly Ways and Means Committee. In the light of the improvements in the 1962-63 and 1963-64 revenue pictures, the Department of Finance now anticipates a $32 million revenue increase in that year.

There are other favorable developments, including the progress of Assembly Bill No. 1543 and Assembly Bill No. 1252 toward enactment. Assembly Bill No. 1542, which closes a sales tax loophole on meals sold for off-premise consumption, would produce $5.6 million in 1963-64 and $7.5 million in 1964-65. Assembly Bill No. 1252, which would close the use tax loophole on "occasional" sales of automobiles, would return an estimated $2.5 million in each of the two years.

Even more important, it now appears that tidelands oil bonuses, royalties and payments will produce at least $20 million more than has been assigned for other purposes in each of the next two fiscal years.

The result, assuming passage of the rest of the budget program as submitted, except for some minor expenditure adjustments already made, is to increase the State's estimated total revenues through June 30, 1965, by $145 million.

Changing the withholding tax forgiveness feature from 25 percent to 50 percent would reduce that amount by $85 million to $60 million above the amounts previously projected.

The handling of the $40 million of this money which will come from tidelands will require special legislative treatment, and I will recommend an interim study on that subject. But the remaining $20 million can be made available for additional school financing either in the next fiscal year or over the next two fiscal years.

I feel that this more favorable fiscal outlook should enable us to work out our remaining financial problems expeditiously, and I am available to discuss the various alternatives with the leadership of both Houses.

Sincerely,

EDMUND G. BROWN, Governor

If the hearing is conducted by a referee, he shall prepare a proposed decision, in writing and in such form that it may be adopted as the decision in the case, and, after approval of the decision by the chief hearing officer of the department, shall file a copy of the proposed decision, within 75 days after the conclusion of the hearing, with the director as a public record and a copy of the proposed decision shall be served on the recipient and on the affected county.

445.9. Within 30 days after receiving a copy of the referee's proposed decision, the director may adopt the decision in its entirety; decide the matter himself on the record, including the transcript, with or without taking additional evidence; or order a rehearing to be conducted by himself, the administrative advisor of the department or another referee in behalf of the director. If a rehearing is ordered, it shall be conducted in the same manner and within the same time limits specified for the original hearing.

445.10. Within 30 days after adoption by the director of the decision of a referee, the affected county or recipient may file a request with the director for a rehearing and the director, within 10 days after receipt of the request, shall grant or deny the request. If the director grants the request, the rehearing shall be conducted in the same manner and subject to the same time limits as the original hearing.

445.11. The decision of the director need not specify the amount of the award to be paid unless the amount of the award is an issue. If the decision is in favor of the recipient, the county department shall pay to the recipient, without the necessity of establishing his present need, the amount of aid he is entitled to receive pursuant to the director's decision, payment to commence as of the date the person was first entitled thereto, or grant to him the services to which the director finds he is entitled.

445.12. The recipient or the affected county, within one year after receiving notice of the director's decision, may file a petition with the superior court, under the provisions of Section 1094.5 of the Code of Civil Procedure, praying for a review of the entire proceedings in the matter, upon questions of law involved in the case. Such review, if granted, shall be the exclusive remedy available to the recipient or county for review of the director's decision. The director shall be the sole respondent in such proceedings.

No filing fee shall be required for the filing of a petition pursuant to this section. Any such petition to the superior court shall be entitled to a preference in setting a date for hearing on the petition. No bond shall be required in the case of any petition for review, nor in any appeal therefrom. The recipient shall be entitled to reasonable attorney's fees and costs, if he obtains a decision in his favor.

Neither the recipient nor the affected county shall be entitled to file a petition under this section unless a request for a rehearing is first made under Section 445.10.

445.13. The county director shall comply with and execute every decision of the director rendered pursuant to this article.

445.14. The department shall compile and distribute to each county agency administering public assistance a current digest of decisions, properly indexed, rendered under this article, and such digest shall be open to public inspection.

445.15. Nothing in this article shall prevent the filing of the request for a hearing by the legal representative, or, if there is no authorized legal representative, by an heir of a deceased recipient, in behalf of the decedent's estate, to the end that rights not determined at the time of death shall accrue to the estate of the recipient."

Senate Resolution No. 145

Relative to amending Rule 12.5 of the Permanent Standing Rules of the Senate

Resolved by the Senate of the State of California, That Rule 12.5 of the Permanent Standing Rules of the Senate is amended to read:

Senate Permanent Fact Finding Committees

12.5. Fourteen Senate Permanent Fact Finding Committees hereinafter described are hereby created pursuant to Section 37 of Article IV of the California Constitution.

Whenever the Senate or a standing committee thereof recommends that the subject matter of a bill be referred to a fact finding committee for interim study, or a Member of the Senate requests in writing that a study be made, the Committee on Rules may assign such study to the Permanent Fact Finding Committee to which the general subject matter involved in the study has been allocated by this rule. The Permanent Fact Finding Committee to which such an assignment is made is authorized and directed to ascertain, study and analyze all facts relating to or bearing upon the subject so assigned including, but not limited to, the operation, effect, administration, enforcement and needed revision of any and all laws in any way bearing upon or relating thereto, and to report thereon to the Senate, including in its report its recommendations for appropriate legislation. When a specific study has been assigned as herein provided, the Committee on Rules may, in writing, authorize the extension of the study to any closely related subject which the Committee on Rules deems to be sufficiently connected with the subject originally assigned.

Each such committee shall consist of the number of Members of the Senate determined and appointed by the Senate Committee on Rules. The chairman and vice chairman of each committee shall be appointed by the Committee on Rules, except that the President pro Tempore of the Senate shall be chairman of the General Research Committee. After the first appointments are made, new appointments shall be made at the close of each subsequent general session. Vacancies occurring in the membership of each committee shall be filled by the appointing power.

Each such committee has continuous existence until such time as its existence is terminated by resolution adopted by the Senate, and each such committee is authorized to act both during and between sessions of the Legislature, including any recess.

Each such committee shall file a final report with the Senate by not later than the 30th calendar day of each general session.

Each such committee and its members shall have and exercise all of the rights, duties and powers conferred upon investigating committees and their members by the provisions of the Joint Rules of the Senate and Assembly and of the Standing Rules of the Senate, which provisions are incorporated herein and made applicable to said committees and their members. Except for the General Research Committee a majority of the members appointed to each committee shall constitute a quorum of the committee, and except for the General Research Committee no subcommittee shall be appointed consisting of less than a quorum of the committee.

Each such committee has the following additional powers and duties:

(a) To contract with such other agencies, public or private, as it deems necessary for the rendition and affording of such services, facilities, studies and reports to the committee as will best assist it to carry out the purposes for which it is created.

(b) To co-operate with and secure the co-operation of county, city, city and county, and other local law enforcement agencies in investigating any matter within the scope of this resolution and to direct the sheriff of any county to serve subpoenas, orders and other process issued by the committee.

(c) To meet and act at any place within the State of California and, when authorized to do so in writing by the Senate Committee on Rules, to meet and act outside the State carrying out its duties.

(d) To report its findings and recommendations to the Legislature and to the people from time to time and at any time, not later than herein provided.

(e) To do any and all other things necessary or convenient to enable it fully and adequately to exercise its powers, perform its duties, and accomplish the objects and purposes of this resolution.

The committees created by this resolution and the subjects allocated to them are:

(1) The Fact Finding Committee on Agriculture is allocated the subject matter embraced in the Agricultural Code and uncodified legislation on the same subject.

Any state agency which proposes the expenditure of any state funds for capital outlay providing for plans, specifications, construction or purchase of new facilities which are to be used for agricultural purposes shall first submit such proposals to the Fact Finding Committee on Agriculture to enable such committee to review and inspect such facilities, equipment or items and to report thereon to the Director of Finance. The Department of Finance shall consider the recommendations of the committee in approving or disapproving any such expenditures in order that any resulting economies may be reflected as soon as practicable.

The General Research Committee may act through subcommittees appointed by the Senate Committee on Rules and such subcommittees may act only on the particular study or investigation assigned by the Senate Committee on Rules to such subcommittees. Each member of the General Research Committee is authorized and directed to receive and investigate requests for legislative action made by individuals or groups and to report thereon to the full committee.

The Senate Committee on Rules is authorized to allocate to any such subcommittee from the Contingent Funds of the Senate such sums as the Committee on Rules deems necessary to complete the investigation or study conferred upon that subcommittee. Senate Resolution No. 86

Commending Sam David

WHEREAS, It has come to the attention of the Senate that Sam David on February 24, 1963, celebrated 51 years as a barber in the Los Angeles area, and on March 17, 1963, he and his wife will celebrate their Golden Wedding Anniversary; and

WHEREAS, Sam David came to America from Poland when he was 15 years of age and in 1912 began his career as a barber in Los Angeles; and

WHEREAS, In 1920, Sam David started devoting his spare time and countless evenings to giving free haircuts and bobs to boys and girls in orphanages and children's hospitals within the greater Los Angeles area; and

WHEREAS, On a conservative estimate, Sam David has over the years trimmed the hair of more than 100,000 sick and lonely children gratuitously, thereby boosting their self-esteem and making them feel wanted and worth while; and

WHEREAS, Sam David is affectionately known as the Barber of Los Angeles and has scraped the chins of numerous important government officials and others who, over the years, have trooped into his tiny three-chair shop in the Los Angeles Times Building, in the heart of the city's Civic Center; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate of the State of California, That the Members of the Senate congratulate Mr. and Mrs. Sam David on their Golden Anniversary, commend Mr.

David for his great humanitarian work, and extend their best wishes to Mr. and Mrs. David for a long and happy future; and be it further

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Senate is hereby directed to transmit a suitably prepared copy of this resolution to Sean David.

By Senator Short:

Senate Resolution No. 131

Relative to a study of state mental institutions

WHEREAS, The population of the State of California has increased manyfold in recent years and is expected to continue to increase at a rapid rate; and

WHEREAS, The number of people being treated through state-operated mental institutions has necessarily increased; and

WHEREAS, The State Department of Mental Hygiene is embarking on a long-range program which emphasizes the use of modern psychiatric treatment methods and local resources; and

WHEREAS, State-operated facilities are not subject to inspection and accreditation by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals, but do try to meet standards set forth by the American Psychiatric Association; and

WHEREAS, The California Medical Association has continually expressed its interest and concern in the quality of medical care received by people of the State regardless of whether the facility is state or privately owned; and

WHEREAS, Physicians in practice in this State can best judge the quality of medical care; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate of the State of California, That the Department of Mental Hygiene is urged to request the California Medical Association, acting through its appropriate committees and associated specialty organizations, to participate a comprehensive survey of state mental institutions, including care of patients, quality and adequacy of personnel and adequacy of facilities; the California Medical Association to be further requested to submit, to the department, a full written report of its findings, conclusions and recommendations; and be it further

Resolved, That the department transmit such report, together with its comments, to the Senate Committee on Business and Professions.

By Senator Murdy:

Senate Resolution No. 150

Relative to the dangers of antibiotic drugs

WHEREAS, The Members of the Senate of the State of California have been cognizant that there has been an increase in the use and prescription of drugs which can be dangerous, and sometimes fatal, to persons, if they are improperly administered; and

WHEREAS, There is a necessity that laws be enacted governing the use, the manner of prescribing, and the place of use of such drugs; and

WHEREAS, In 1961, Senate Resolution No. 22 was adopted, directing the Senate Fact Finding Committee on Public Health and Safety to conduct a study of the use of antibiotic drugs, particularly Chloromycetin, and requesting the Department of Public Health to co-operate with the committee in its study and render such assistance as the committee should require; and

WHEREAS, Since 1929 when penicillin was discovered by Dr. Alexander Fleming of England, research has developed 25 different antibiotic drugs now commercially available for treatment of disease in man, including Chloromycetin, a broad-spectrum antibiotic used in the treatment of typhoid fever, influenza, meningitis, as well as severe salmonella infections, and for other life-threatening infections, as prescribed by physicians; and

WHEREAS, In recent years there have been reports that use, or perhaps misuse, of antibiotic drugs has had fatal or near fatal results, and, in particular, Chloromycetin has been mentioned as a cause of aplastic anemia, a blood disorder in which the bone marrow is affected and production of blood cells is suppressed and which almost always results in death; and

WHEREAS, In its report to the Senate in January, 1963, the Senate Fact Finding Committee on Public Health and Safety conservatively estimated that 60 to 80 deaths result from aplastic anemia annually in California; and

WHEREAS, There is need for continuing investigation of fatal aplastic anemia and of antibiotic drugs, particularly Chloromycetin; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate of the State of California, That the State Department of Public Health is requested to continue its investigation of fatal aplastic anemia in this State, including investigation of conditions suspected of being aplastic anemia, though reported otherwise, and of deaths thought to be due to use of Chloromycetin and related causes, and to report thereon to the Senate, including its recommendations as to needed legislation, by the 30th calendar day of the 1965 Regular Session of the Legislature; and be it further

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Senate is directed to transmit a copy of this resolution to the Director of the State Department of Public Health.

We Turn to Thee, Lord of Ages. At the beginning of this day, We ask of Thee tolerance of our imperfections, our weakness, our falling short of the high hopes to which we truly aspire. We seek, with Thy help, the sense of purpose and profound integrity, essential to the office to which we have dedicated our lives. And we knock, not with brash audacity but with gentle and humble insistence at the gates of Wisdom, with unswerving confidence in Thy own promise, O Lord: "Ask and you shall receive; seek and you shall find; knock and it shall be opened unto you." AMEN.

The commission shall issue such permits so as to insure insofar as practicable each applicant an equal percentage of the overall tonnage.

SEC. 2. Section 8082 is added to said code, to read:

8082. The commission may close the season to all permittees at any time for the taking of anchovies under such permits if it finds that to continue such taking will result in endangering the future supply of anchovies.

Such finding shall only be made after a public hearing on the matter. Notice of the hearing shall be published at least 30 days prior to the hearing.

SEC. 3. The Legislature hereby finds that there are two distinct population concentrations of anchovies, one in the southern portion of the State and one to the north and there is no appreciable movement between these populations. The northern population is not being properly utilized in that foreign competition has made it unprofitable to take anchovies for canning purposes, and the permits provided for by this act will allow the utilization of these fish which would otherwise be wasted and will materially aid the depressed fishing industry in Monterey County.
